

Ireland's specialist provider of Equality and Diversity Training

LIR Anti-racism Training and Education Programme provide training and education in equality and diversity specialising in anti-racism. We offer programmes particularly for Community, Voluntary and Statutory Bodies. We are also happy to work with businesses and other organisations that want to reap the benefit of a more inclusive workplace. The aim of our programmes is to enable participants to identify discrimination and racism, and equip them with the tools needed to combat it.

LIR Anti-racism Training and Education Programme also provides other training programmes to complement the work of the Community, Voluntary and Statutory sectors, these include Communications, Social Studies, Youth, Community Development and Early Childhood Care and Education Major Award.

LIR Anti-racism Training and Education Programme is QQI accredited. We can also design programmes to suit the participants, their work environment and/or various situations, which may evolve.

LIR Anti-racism Training and Education Programme evolved from a network comprising of the Statutory, Community and Voluntary sector LIR Training delivers courses around the country including Dublin, Cork, Limerick, Kerry, and Donegal.
